Our Story

Soul Rebel began as a food truck based in Northern Virginia in late 2020. In 2024, the owners, Kofi and Shareem Annan opened a brick and mortar restaurant under the same name in Petersburg, VA. We chose Petersburg because the people always made us feel like family when we visited our sons who attended Virginia State University. Soul Rebel is a certified Small, Micro, Minority Owned, Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Business.

We serve a unique blend of Caribbean-American fusion cuisine. Our menu includes island favorites such as curry chicken, oxtail, and jerk chicken made with our artisan jerk marinade but also features blends of Caribbean and American cultures that you will not find anywhere else such as our Jerk-BBQ burgers and wings, our one of a kind Pineapple-Mango Blaze wings, and mouth-watering tacos.

Soul Rebel was the inspiration of Kofi Annan, a product of the blending of Guyanese and American culture. Kofi is an award winning author and activist known for his bold, innovative and unapologetic approach in his social justice advocacy, and he has taken that same rebellious spirit and approach to Soul Rebel. Our mission is not just to create bold and flavorful cuisine, but also to celebrate and uplift authentic Afro-Caribbean and Afro-American culture. A soul rebel is someone who does the right thing even when it's hard.
